RED CROSS JOTTINGS

KNITTING DEPARTMENT CHECKS YARN—SALVAGE WORK REORGANIZED

The local Chapter of the Red Cross has been checking over its yarn accounts and finds its record imperfect to the extent that skeins of yarn given out as far back as September appear never to have been turned in. This may be because the knitter who received the yarn failed to attach her name to the garment she turned in and so did not receive proper credit. In order to put the transactions on the same basis as in other Red Cross chapters, hereafter a receipt will be taken from each person to whom yarn is given, the receipt to be surrendered when the finished garment is turned in, which should prove more satisfactory both to the knitters and the chapter.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the dance to be given as a Red Cross benefit at the Elks' Club House March 16th. Tickets are on sale at Red Cross headquarters and at the Glendale Music Company. It is a charming place for such a party and if the public responds as it did to the last invitation to dance there, the affair will be a great success socially and financially.

Yesterday was Leather Vest Day at Red Cross headquarters and some very fine work was turned out by Chairman Coral Griffith and her assistants, Mesdames Whittmore, Vogel, George and Scott Whitaker, C. D. Shattuck and H. V. Henry. About fifteen vests have been manufactured by the department, which will be shipped the coming week.

In the Surgical Dressings Department the following ladies worked Friday afternoon: Mesdames C. L. Peckham, B. H. Ward, O. L. Papineau, Fred Myton, C. F. Parker, C. C. Dorrance, Archie Parker, O. T. Walker, Vera Horner, I. A. Flint, George Whitaker, S. F. Whitaker.

In connection with the salvage work, which is now taken over by the Junior Red Cross, there will be a reorganization of committees. Miss Maybelle Douglass is now chairman of selling. There will be a Saturday drive by each school in turn and each school will have a chairman who will be in charge on that day. These chairmen will constitute a general executive committee for the salvage department, and the head chairman of that committee will be elected by the membership.

The Broadway School is collecting today and Mrs. M. Ogden Ryan is the chairman who is directing the work.

P. E. O. ELECTION

Chapter A. H. of the P. E. O. held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Wesley Bullis, 101 North Brand boulevard, Friday afternoon. It was called to order by the president, Mrs. John A. Logan, and reports of officers for the year were received.

Officers for the coming year were then elected as follows:

Mrs. Greta Lynch, President,
Mrs. Amelia Wattles, Vice-President,

Catherine Stephenson, Recording Secretary,
Mrs. Cora Webster, Corresponding Secretary,

Mrs. Ida Belle Ludden, Treasurer,
Mrs. Luella Bullis, Chaplain,
Mrs. Grace Hobbs, Guard,
Mrs. Sala Logan, Journalist.

The outgoing president was presented with two beautiful bouquets of flowers, one of violets and white hyacinths, the other of daffodils and white carnations, Mrs. Charles A. Barker making a charming speech of presentation.

CONCENTRATION

The three women's societies of the First Methodist Church held their initial meeting under the new plan on Thursday in the church parlors, and all present voted it a success thus far. Despite the steady downpour, a goodly number were in attendance when the president of the Home Missionary Society opened the first session. This society held a business meeting, omitting the program, then adjourned to the social hall for lunch. The usual bountiful supply of good things was enjoyed, especially by the few men who came. Then the Ladies' Aid Society had the time from one until two. Among other things discussed at this time was the coming Epworth League convention, which will be held in our city in May. The Foreign Missionary Society had a business meeting followed by a program in charge of Mrs. W. H. Reynolds, on "The White Man in Africa," which was most interesting.

It was voted by all three societies that a meeting would be held on the first Thursday of each month, rain or shine, to avoid any question about it in the future.

A COMMERCIAL EVENT

OPENING OF THE JUNIOR RED CROSS SHOP ON MARYLAND AND BROADWAY TUESDAY

Interest in the Red Cross and curiosity relative to the pretty toys and art objects which have been made by pupils of the Intermediate School will undoubtedly attract a large attendance at the formal opening of the Junior Red Cross Shop which will take place Tuesday afternoon, March 12th. The shop is at the corner of Maryland and Broadway, and its sponsors announce that a fine stock of artistic articles will then be on display and sale.

The work has been under the direction of Miss Jones and Mr. Harkness and that alone is a guarantee of the usefulness and beauty of the articles with which the buying public will be tempted.

A male quartette from Jefferson High School will sing during the afternoon and sandwiches, cake and tea will be served by pretty girls of the Intermediate at fifteen cents per.

Glendale has so loyally supported the Red Cross activities that the pupils of the Intermediate School feel confident the public will stand back of them in their efforts to do their part in winning the war. Those best acquainted with the inclinations of Glendale citizens predict a great crush when this interesting commercial venture is launched.

DISTRICT EPWORTH LEAGUE

General Chairman.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH

Miss Nellie Rowe, a member of the local Y. P. B., with her mother, Mrs. G. H. Rowe, superintendent of the branch, was hostess Friday evening at the meeting of that organization when about twenty earnest young people were present. Twenty many-tailed bandages were completed and tied in packages ready for delivery. A half hour was happily spent in parliamentary drill led by the new parliamentarian of the Y's, Mr. Truman McCrea. This drill was very instructive and entertaining. Members of the branch were very proud when it was announced that $17 had been collected to be turned over to the W. C. T. U. for the war service fund. Refreshments were served, an impromptu program was enjoyed and the balance of the evening was spent in a general good time.

WOULD WITHHOLD CASUALTY LIST

COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INFORMATION OBJECTS TO ORDER TO WITHHOLD EMERGENCY ADDRESSES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Under a Military men's plea of withholding information from the enemy, the nation today was barred from the news as to the casualties abroad other than that John Smith, Tom Brown, etc., was so killed or wounded. The committee on public information of the War Department is deadlocked. The committee is firm in its stand that the casualty list without the emergency address is useless as published information. Two days' casualty list has piled up without being published. General Pershing sponsors the move to conceal the address, etc., on the ground that this gives information to the enemy.

REGULATION OF GRAIN PRICES NEEDED

FARMERS MUST BE FORCED TO DISPOSE OF THEIR GRAIN HOLDINGS AND INCREASE ACREAGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, March 9.—Government regulation of all grain prices and fixing the maximum price for wheat are needed to force the farmers to dispose of their grain holdings and increase their acreage, according to food administration officials here. With a maximum wheat price established the government could control the market through a large buying power. Through proper regulations the food administration could force the farmers to market their grain. The price of wheat substitutes would therefore be lowered. As it is the farmers are not showing an inclination to dispose of their grain at present prices.

IN THE VAN

Miss Ida Waite has forwarded to the Provost Marshal at Washington, the classification cards completed for this Board, which is one of the first districts to finish in the United States. So says Chairman Lanterman.

The untiring efforts of Miss Waite and her corps of assistants are responsible for this splendid and patriotic record. The total number of classification cards written by these teachers was 1836.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS PINCHED

Traffic Officer Harwood arrested Douglas Fairbanks on Colorado boulevard for driving an automobile at the rate of 34 miles an hour. Douglas was cited to appear Monday morning at ten o'clock before Judge Lowe. Douglas will probably get a fine lot of advertising out of the adventure.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Sunday. Light frosts. Westerly winds.

ALL FREEMEN SOLDIERS

OUR FOREFATHERS' VIEW REGARDING MILITARY TRAINING IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Boston Public Latin School of Boston, Mass., is not only the oldest educational institution in the country, but is by far the oldest public school in the United States, if not in the world. It was established when on the "13th of the 2d month 1635 at a General meeting upon public notice it was generally agreed upon" that there should be such a school publicly supported. This was only 5 or 6 years after the founding of Boston, and was for the purpose of fitting boys for college.

It is and always has been a military school, and every boy is obliged to learn the manual of arms and drill. As the old militia law of Massachusetts in 1758 declared: "In all free governments every freeman and every freeholder should be a soldier. A freeman that is no soldier does as much as in him lies that he should be no longer free."

We believe that this is right and that every High School should be a military school. C. I. M.

CALLED TO SERVICE

Albert Dana Burkett of 704 West Fifth street, who was assigned to the Medical Reserve Corps, Base Hospital 35, and who has been awaiting call, has with others received official orders to entrain at 8 o'clock a. m. at the Santa Fe station in Los Angeles Thursday morning for Camp Kearny.

This unit consists of 150 enlisted men, of 25 physicians and surgeons, and 150 nurses, all from Los Angeles County. Part of the nurses are already on the Atlantic seaboard and a number of the doctors (among them Dr. Emil Tholen) have gone forward, some to the middle west, some to the Atlantic coast, some to the south. Dr. Frederick Ray, Adjutant, goes to Camp Kearny with the enlisted men.

The physicians and surgeons in the unit are Majors Dr. J. J. Van Kaathoven and Walter V. Brem; Captains George Graham Hunter, Gilbert Roy Owen, Elliott Alden, Edwin Weller, Jr., Emil Tholen, William Francis, Thomas McHugh; Lieutenants Robert Hill, Roy Ruth, Wallace Dodge, Bret Albert Swartz, Walter Holleran, George Schenck, Simon Jesberg, Frederick Ray, Frederick Schiller, Karl Dieterle, Carl Rand, and Arch Paulson.

The dentists in the unit are Lieutenants Phillip Cunnane, H. E. Cannon and A. A. Payette.

U. AND I. CLUB

The U. and I. Club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Ashton to enjoy a patriotic program furnished by Miss Ida Myers. The meeting opened with the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner. Then Miss Myers gave the history of the flag and tributes to Washington and Lincoln. Luella Ashton sang a flag song and Miss Myers distributed small flags as souvenirs of the occasion. Simple refreshments were served and a very pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed. The club voted to meet once a week to sew for the Red Cross and the next meeting for that purpose will be Wednesday, March 13th at the home of Miss Myers, 307 South San Fernando boulevard.

MILITARY SOCIAL

A military social was held by the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church of Glendale in its League rooms in the church Friday evening, which was unique and immensely enjoyed by the sixty or more young people who participated.

Misses Ruth Wood and Gladys Harding had charge of the program. Members were divided into two companies which were captained by Dr. Ralph Lusby and Charles Hezmalhalch. Various games were carried out by these opposing sides. There was a "No Man's Land" and a Y. M. C. A. encampment, and the program closed with the trial of some rookies arrested for trespassing in No Man's Land and other offenses. Rev. B. D. Snudden acting as judge. Nuts, apples and candy were served at the canteen.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1918

SIGN POSTING CONTINUES

A general increase in signposting operations is assured for this part of the country by the Automobile Club of Southern California, according to a report received here from headquarters yesterday.

With the greatest influx of eastern motorists ever promised in a single season, the importance of the new road signs cannot be overestimated, as they will lead travel direct form the big transcontinental highways to every section of Southern California.

It is stated in the report from the club officials that the added support being given to that organization by automobile owners throughout the south makes possible not only a renovation of the sign system but also a very material increase in the number of signs and as this support increases so can the service activities of the Automobile Club.

Club trucks are now at work in San Luis Obispo, Kern and Santa Barbara counties, and as soon as this section is completed the crews will be dispatched to the other counties of the southern part of the state, notably, the Imperial Valley, San Diego county, San Bernardino county, Orange county and Riverside. Ventura county has had a large number of new signs already installed. It is pointed out that in whatever county the Club erects signs, the work is of benefit to all adjacent or near-by counties, as the system is so arranged as to lead from one county to another.

According to Secretary S. L. Mitchell of the organization, a strenuous campaign is to start at once against the wanton destruction of road signs by vandals who give no thought to their actions. A word of warning is also added by D. C. Rhodes, in charge of the signposting department, who states that each club truck is manned by a husky crew, some ex-prizefighters and gun-men, and it is going hard with any traveler who is caught by them in the act of "shooting up" any Club signs, which are the pride of the Southern California motorists. That the new signs will be placed within a short time is promised, as they have already been ordered, and are under construction.

THE AIR RAID TERROR

Accounts of enemy air raids on London and towns in Kent vividly suggest the terrifying conditions that must exist at all times in those parts of Great Britain which invite attacks of that kind. A series of such accounts published in one of the London papers has been received by Dr. C. Stuart Steelman of this city, and has been given to this paper for publication. The accounts in part are as follows:

Another great air raid was brought off on Thursday morning. Five simultaneous attacks in all were schemed on London between 5:00 and 5:30 o'clock, after a preliminary couple of groups of machines had been sent over the coast in order to draw gunfire and exhaust the defenses if possible.

The official report issued by Lord French was as follows:

A raid by about twenty-five enemy aeroplanes took place early this morning.

The first group of raiders came in over Kent at 1:30 a. m., and dropped bombs at various places on and near the coast.

A second group made the land shortly after 3:00 a. m., the various machines proceeding up the Thames and some distance into Kent.

Both the above groups appeared to have carried out preliminary attacks with the object of drawing gunfire and exhausting the defenses, for it was not until an hour later that the most serious attack developed.

Between 4:00 and 4:30 a. m. two groups of enemy machines crossed the Essex coast and three groups the Kent coast, proceeding towards London on converging courses.

Their tactical plan seems to have been to deliver five simultaneous attacks on the capital from the north-east, east, and southwest.

The whole of one group, however, was turned back by gunfire, and of the others not more than five or six machines penetrated into London.

One or two explosive and a large number of incendiary bombs were dropped in various districts at about 5:00 a. m.

"Captured Alive"

Two of the raiders fell victims to our defenses, in each case the entire crew of three men being captured alive.

A number of fires occurred in London, but all were speedily got under control by the Metropolitan Fire Brigade.

Casualties are believed to be slight, but full police reports have not yet been received.

A number of our own aeroplanes went up, and all landed safely.

Crew Arrested by Clergyman Special Constable

A Gotha machine passed over the neighborhood of an East Kent town between 5 and 6 o'clock. Shortly afterwards heavy gunfire was heard, and what was presumed to be the same machine passed back over the town. It was then flying at a low altitude—200 ft. or 300 ft.—had apparently been damaged, and obviously was having engine trouble. On the outskirts of the town it began to come down still lower, and narrowly missed a large mill and several small houses. It eventually landed in a meadow, after striking a fence, and was shortly afterwards observed to be in flames.

Among the first who saw the landing was a farmer's son, who was about 150 yards off at the time. He at once told his father, who, with some of the farm hands, proceeded to the spot. When they got to them, one of two German officers said in broken English: "We German; fetch a constable." A few minutes later a clergyman, who was also a special constable, came up and took the Germans into custody. The third German was a sergeant-major.

One of the German officers, a big man of 6 ft. 3 in. or 6 ft. 4 in. in height, was a good deal cut about the face, and the sergeant-major was also injured. The clergyman temporarily dressed the wounds, and afterwards the party were escorted to the road, whence they were taken to the police station in a V. A. D. ambulance car, and subsequently to the local hospital. The two officers were profuse in their thanks to the hospital authorities for the attention they received.

One of the officers stated, in reply to questions, that they had been hit by gunfire, and subsequently engine trouble developed. The big officer wore the ribbon of the Iron Cross, and the second officer was also decorated.

The Second Gotha Falls in Essex

The other Hun machine that was brought down—a Gotha of the larger type—was seen shortly after 5 o'clock to be flying low over a little village in the countryside of Essex. It appeared to be in difficulties, and showed green lights. It gradually got lower and fell between a church and an aerodrome. It was scarcely damaged, and its commander and the two mechanics were able to walk from the machine. They were promptly taken prisoner by men of the Flying Squadron from the aerodrome. One of the Germans was found to have received a slight injury, and this was attended to in the town.

Later, by some means, the machine caught fire and soon became a wreck, with the exception of a part of one plane. Apparently no bombs had been released from the machine, and these were all removed while the aeroplane was intact. The Commander looked quite a young man, but stood over six feet in height. It was his first trip, although he was wearing the Iron Cross and another German decoration.

Three Killed in Their Beds

"Death due to bombs dropped by hostile aircraft" was the verdict on two men and two women, victims of Thursday morning's raid in a south-east coast town. Three were killed in their beds.

In a southeast coast town John Edward Twigg, aged 62, died from heart failure during the progress of the air raid on Thursday morning.

Coast Machine Gums in Action
So low were the raiders when they passed inland over one southeast coast town that machine gums were used on them.

In his search for safety a man carried his wife about two miles over the frozen marshes with bare feet.

The earliest raiding group wrecked several workmen's houses in one Kentish town.

In the hells in the barrage the machine-gun fire overhead was distinctly heard in a number of towns and country districts.

GARDEN SOCIETY ACTIVITIES

At the Glendale Garden Society held last Thursday evening, two interesting features were discussed. One was the work of the Penny Seed Packet Committee. This department, under the active direction of Mrs. H. C. Ackley, has achieved a great work during the past two months. Up to and including the 8th day of March four thousand one hundred and fifty-four (4,154) packets of penny seeds have been sold to the school children. The seeds were purchased wholesale and divided into penny-worths and put up in manilla envelopes. The seeds desired were ordered by the children through their teachers, the latter handing in both orders and money to the respective school principals. These in turn communicated with Mrs. Ackley. Up to March 8th, the schools purchased packets of seeds in the following numbers: Broadway, 457 packets; Central, 520; Colorado, 579; Columbus, 789; Doran, 327; Intermediate (Third street), 974; Pacific, 508—altogether totalling 4154 packets. The work done by the school teachers and especially by the agricultural teacher, Miss Helen White, instructing and enthusing the young people along the lines of home-gardening and the co-operation of the Garden Society in furthering these ends by such practical means, has resulted in an enormous home-gardening impetus.

The second activity discussed and decided upon is that of giving practical assistance to the Red Cross funds by arranging a weekly sale of vegetable and flower plants, also potted plants and cut flowers. This sale will be held one stated day a week, probably every Friday, and will be in charge of an active and capable committee. Location—one of the Red Cross shops. All receipts to be handed over to the Red Cross funds. Friends having at present, or later, a surplus of young plants, seedlings, potted plants, etc., or desirous of supplying cut flowers, are asked to communicate with Glendale 394 or to leave their names at Red Cross headquarters. Further details will be announced within a couple of days, and the names of the ladies undertaking this enterprise will be published.

THE PEOPLE ARE SAVING

Evidences are accumulating that the habit of saving among the American people, especially among the patrons of savings banks and postal savings, is outstripping the financial demands made upon them by the Government.

While no exact figures are available at present, it is known that postal savings deposits have steadily gained during the year 1917, and notably since the 1st of July of that year, which was after the first issue of the Liberty Loan.

The reports from savings banks also show a steady gain, and the same is true of co-operative building and loan associations.

Nor have the people of small means been the only savers. It is estimated that the savings of the whole people of the United States, ordinarily $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 annually, were increased to $14,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 in 1917.

The response of the people to the national need of economy and saving has been general and generous.

Miss Caro Whitaker, who is taking a nurse's training course at the Pasadena Hospital, came home Friday to have lunch with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whitaker, 315 North Maryland avenue.

Mrs. C. B. Wilde of 1531 Milford street entertained Friday afternoon with a knitting class party for the benefit of the Red Cross Chapter. Her home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink carnations and ferns, and refreshments of salad, sandwiches and tea were served. It was entirely informal, the ladies bringing their knitting and spending a social afternoon. The guest list included Mesdames Clarence Hughes, Gus Pulliam, Al Young, John Legg, Arthur Brown, H. A. Andrews, William Althouse.

DEATH OF HON. JAMES P. ROOT

Illinois newspapers give liberal space recording the passing of James P. Root at Chicago, 88 years old, and one of the "Old Guard" Republican of that state, active and able, a figure in all conventions from 1850 to a few years ago, when age impaired his activities.

He was active in the nomination of Lincoln, and a trusted friend and supporter of the great emancipator. Mr. Root had great managing ability, and his hand was in all important political movements in the state, notably in the way of safe nominations for the Republican party. For many years he was secretary of the state central committee, machinery used by him to good party purpose. A member of the State General Assembly in 1873, gave him opportunity to shape much legislation under the new constitution adopted in 1870. He was not ambitious for office, but he was pleased to be consulted and generally was. He had a fine residence property at 55th street, south side, and lived in comfort, though somewhat on the seclusion line of late years, age hanging weight on his former active springs. The sadness comes in here. He lost his life from his clothing taking fire from his own pipe, so said the brief news item. But how many, all over this country, will say: "Too bad, too bad," and on will move the procession. He was an able, useful public man, a full cousin to Elihu Root. S. P.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conday of Boston, Mass., were guests Thursday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turk of Glendale avenue. On Saturday they entertained Mrs. Albert and Mr. Julian Hayden of Estes Park, Colorado.

Harold Grant Young, of the Battleship Oregon, who is having a furlough and who is on his way to visit his mother, will spend Sunday afternoon and evening with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith of this city.

Monday evening, March 18th, the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations will have a "Fathers' Night" in the auditorium of the High School at 8 o'clock. A splendid program is being prepared, a full notice of which will be given next week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McElroy moved to their home, 712 Adams street, the 1st of March, after living in apartments for the past eight months. Their telephone number is 526-J, the same as formerly. Their son Harold is in the officers' training camp at Camp Kearny.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church enjoyed a military social last evening in the social hall of the church. A large number of members and visitors were present and a good time was enjoyed by all present. The games and refreshments were all carried out as near like the training camp as possible.

Miss Margaret Higgins, of 101 East Third street, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Higgins who came from San Francisco some months ago to live among us, has just entered the Pico Heights Academy, a boarding school for young ladies. Miss Margaret will be greatly missed by the many young friends she has made during her short residence here.

Mrs. H. C. Harlan and little son James, of Tacoma, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harlan, the grandparents of James, at 943 Mariposa street. They have just come from Elsinore, where they have been guests of Mrs. Harlan's father, and will return to Tacoma next week. With Mrs. C. E. Harlan they spent Friday in Venice with friends who reside there.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison of 245 South Kenwood street, entertained at dinner Thursday evening. Misses Dorothy Wilde, Elsie Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Porter, Miss Ethel Preston and Mrs. Grace Harrison. Vi-lets centered the table and featured the decorations of the pretty place cards. Mrs. Harrison was assisted in serving by her daughter Inez. The guests remained and spent a very pleasant evening with a new game.

A business session of the Intermediate Department of the Sunday School of the Glendale Presbyterian Church, was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. King on South Jackson street. About twenty-five members were in attendance and David Johnson presided. Various matters were disposed of and preliminary arrangements were made for sending representatives to the convention to be held next Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Santa Monica, which seventeen members are planning to attend as a "house party." Mr. and Mrs. King will go with them as chaperons.

UNDER THE CAMOUFLAGE

By Lowell Mellett
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Jan. 8 (By Mail).—There was a margarine queue in King's Road as I came downtown this morning. The snow of last night had become slush, the sidewalks were wet and some of those in the queue, crowded off the sidewalk, stood in slush of the street. An icy wind was blowing.

The noon editions of the afternoon newspapers reported margarine and meat queues in many other parts of the city, in most every part, in fact, where there was margarine on sale.

A short time ago the Prime Minister, speaking on the food situation, remarked significantly, "There are no food queues outside the Co-Operative stores." So I went down into Aldersgate this afternoon to ask the Co-Operators why. In the depot of the Co-Operative Wholesale Societies—as big a wholesale house as I'd ever seen in America—I was referred to B. Williams, head of the Co-Operative Union, whose office had been crowded by the growth of business into one of the overflow buildings in a nearby street.

"The trouble," said B. Williams, "is that the government has not yet realized that we are at war, or it has not carried the realization into our commercial life. The plain fact is that the function of controlling the people's food never should have been put into the hands of any man whose life-training has been profit-making. His experience in life has been such as to totally unfit him for such a post."

Several months ago when Lord Devonport, himself a commission merchant, was retiring from the job of Food Controller, Williams was suggested as a possible successor. The suggestion apparently did not get very far. Trying to visualize him in the role I fell to wondering why he looked so familiar and where I could have seen him before. Suddenly it came to me that it wasn't any single person he reminded me of, but a sort of composite person. He had the look about him of those various clerks in different stores that my mother always used to ask for when she wanted to be sure of what she was getting. He looked reliable and gave the impression of wishing to serve, rather than to sell.

He would look quite at home today behind the counter of one of my mother's favorite stores and yet here he is head of the Co-Operative Union. To make this mean something, it might be mentioned that the co-operators have the largest flour mills in the world and one of the largest shoe factories; that there are 4,500,000 of them; that the immense building around the corner is only one of many and not by any means the largest; that their own bank in

Not Patriotism Alone Urges You to Buy

SET aside patriotism, if you will. Ignore the fact that thousands of America's young men are fighting right now for Humanity and You.

Forget all this, and consider the proposition from a purely selfish viewpoint.

Isn't the expenditure of $4.12 now and the collection of $5.00 later pretty good business? Isn't the collection of $100 on January 1, 1923, worth the investment now of $82.40?

That's exactly what buying War-Savings Stamps means.

Glendale Laundry

the last quarter did a business of $375,000,000.

"The control of food supplies," said Williams, "should have been entrusted to a board, who have had experience in co-operation. All the talk just now is of unity and co-ordination, but they don't apply it to the crying need of the food situation. Such a board of control should have had wide administrative and executive powers. Its sole object for existence should have been to see that all available foodstuffs were bought at the most reasonable prices and equitably distributed at the most economical cost."

"The trouble from which the people have suffered most during the last three and a half years has been the impossibility of getting Mr. Lloyd George and his fantastic caravan of assorted antiques to realize the nation is at war. Before the food situation grows too serious for salvation there ought to be a bold and peremptory demand for the dismissal of the present army of incompetents from the numerous Food Departments and the installation of capable bodies of committeemen and managers."

"Where are you going to find all this talent?" I asked.

"Well, we've always found it."

"You must pay a pretty good price for it."

B. Williams laughed. "The members of our board of managers get just $2,000 a year each."

"How do you keep them?"

"Most of them have grown up in the co-operative movement and thoroughly believe in it. They prefer the service they are rendering to the profit they might be making. Once in a long while, of course, one is tempted away by a big salary that a concern insignificant in size compared to ours, can afford to offer. But we never lose the best ones."

"There's another phase of it, too. Big business isn't half the mystery that it is made out to be. It is really pretty simple; we are able to furnish exact reports of our operations to our millions of members in language that nearly any one of them can understand. And judged by ordinary standards ours would be considered amazingly complex, with our steamships, our acres of tea lands in Ceylon, wheat lands in Canada, our insurance department, banking business, clothing factories, poultry farms and so on."

"We could easily make a mystery of it, but our profits are not intended to be hidden! since they go to the 4,500,000 members, they are entitled to know how they are produced."

In conclusion, Mr. Williams observed that in his opinion the co-operators could solve the British food situation and would welcome the opportunity to do it.

GERMAN FOOD TRADE

German food rationing affects producers least and wholesale dealers most, according to the National Food Journal issued by the British food controller. The German farmer is allowed to retain an adequate share of his output for his own establishment, and generally keeps more. The German wholesaler, on the other hand, has been ruined. He has become an unnecessary link in the chain of distribution. The system leaves no scope for his activities, except as an agent of some public authority; and it is officially admitted that sufficient employment in this capacity can not be furnished, and that what there is has not been fairly distributed. Too many local authorities have preferred to appoint persons outside the trade or to use chiefly agricultural co-operative societies to buy for them. In any case the special qualifications of the wholesaler, his knowledge of sources of supply and local requirements have been wasted; and his capital has to a large extent been immobilized.

The German retailer is a necessary part of the system. He has suffered from the extension of municipal shops during the war, but the creation of such shops is now officially discouraged. In many towns he has been forced to combine with his fellows to form co-operative purchasing organizations to which supplies are delivered. The maximum prices, and still more the innumerable and peculiar ticket regulations, impose upon him obligations and open legal pitfalls which would have seemed unbearable before the war. He can not make very good profits.
